being offset toward the one of the lateral sides having the projection in the combination as claimed.

Claims 11-12 are allowed because none of the prior art references of record teaches a recording head cartridge comprising a projection that is provided on only one lateral side of a pair of lateral side of a container body which extend parallel with an inserting direction when the liquid container is inserted to a container holder, the projection is guided along an upper end of a guide wall of the container holder, and is rotated substantially about a front side engaging portion of the liquid container engaged with a front side portion of the container holder; wherein a bottom surface of each liquid container is provided with a liquid supply outlet for supplying the liquid from the container to an outside thereof, and wherein for each liquid container, the liquid supply outlet is disposed at a position downstream in the insertion direction of a middle point of the container, the position being offset toward the one of the lateral sides having the projection in the combination as claimed.
